

Project Summary

Oil Recycling and Biodiesel Programs Workshop - Daphne Utilities

Daphne Utilities will document “lessons learned” and “best practices” from their innovative used oil recycling / biodiesel production initiative and educate others on how to replicate the system at other locations. A series of five workshop seminars will be held across the state to inform wastewater utilities and municipalities on the benefits of instituting oil recycling and biodiesel programs. Participants will be instructed on how to organize, execute and market a used cooking oil recycling program and integrate it into a local biodiesel production and use initiative.
